

BALTRADER is one of the leading, internationally established providers of cement logistics services. Since the shipping company was founded in 1997, the Hamburg-based firm has been on a steady growth trajectory. The current fleet, which serves the largest corporations in the cement industry, consists of 12 modern, pneumatically self-discharging cement carriers with a deadweight tonnage of up to 6,885 DWT. Four additional state-of-the-art newbuilds are currently under construction and will join the fleet upon delivery in 2026/2027.
